

Grandmothers for climate action

“Carbon emissions must be tackled with urgency; we cannot leave our grandchildren to face the catastrophic results of not doing so”

“We’re doing it for future generations. This is not about party politics or anything. It’s about the greater good for our poor grandchildren and the people to come.”

The women are worried for their grandchildren's future.
(Image: Trevor Porter)

Who; Everyone is welcome, just turn up. You don't need to be a grandmother!

Where; County Hall Trowbridge, Bythesea rd BA14 8JN

When; December 14th

Time; 10-11 am

Bring; Banners, children, dogs, musical instruments

Contact;
lucyrosebrookes@btinternet.com

